

SofTechnics' 2009 Users Conference Returns to San Diego

August 25, 2008 -- Akron, OH -- SofTechnics, a leading provider of integrated retail software solutions, is pleased to announce that their 2009 Users Conference will return to San Diego April 19-22, 2009, at the Hilton San Diego Resort and Spa. The theme for the conference is "Managing the Customer Experience" and will feature keynote presentations by industry leaders, customer success stories, breakout sessions featuring technology experts, in-depth product sessions, solution forums, and opportunities to network with SofTechnics solution partners, as well as a little fun too.

In addition to significant presentations by key retailers and industry leaders, the 2009 Users Conference will conduct six industry and solution focused workshops and three roundtable sessions.

A high point of the conference will be the new Solution Partners Technology Zone, which will demonstrate SofTechnics' ability to deliver complete retail solutions for complex business problems through strategic partnerships.
